Augustus 2024, de cold case Siriyakorn Siriboon

Stacey:
I would like to know if you can connect to Siriyakorn Siriboon.
She's of Thai ethnicity.

Pat:
Hi Stacey,

before I continue with this contact, I need to know if I'm connecting to the right person, so I will give you my first impressions before I go on.

As soon as I tune in on the name you gave, I can feel a very bubbly, female energy. A young women, possibly even a teenager and she feels like a girlfriend. I don't really feel a blood relation as in family...

She has a very young face, friendly, open, chatty, her laugh keeps coming back. She must have been someone very dear to you...

There is also something with her name, as if she was never called by her full name, but had a nickname. My mind is immediately going to 'Siri', but that's not it...

Am I right in saying that her passing was somewhat tragic? It seems to be shrouded in mystery, as if it's not clear what really happened to her... Was this a crime or did she go missing?

Don't give me any information please, just tell me if I'm on the right track.

Cheers,
Pat

Stacey:
Yes you are correct. She went missing and had not been found.. still ongoing investigation for a long time now. Everyone calls her "Bung" rather than her full name

Pat:
I'm so sorry to hear that Stacey. That makes this a somewhat different reading and more of a psychic detection...

I just returned from a walk and on the parking my attention was being drawn to the emblem with the number of the restaurant on it, number 12 (this is somewhat how it works for me). I mentioned that she was a teenager, was she around the age of 12 or 12 years of age?

The fact that I can tune in on her energy, is confirmation for me that she passed to spirit. I don't know if it is still unknown if she is deceased or somewhere living a certain life, but I strongly feel that she is deceased. I can also feel that this was about 8 to 10 years ago... maybe even longer... somewhere around 2013, 2014?

Stacey:
Yes correct. She was 13 years old and this was in 2011 that she disappeared. I suspected she is not alive now, but we are all still lost as to where she is and what happened.

Pat:
Thank you Stacey, this must be horrible for you to hear then.

As I tuned in to her energy while I was walking, I felt a sharp sting in my neck / throat-area, and I became instantly nauseous to the point where I felt I had to throw up. My head and my entire body became numb and heavy. This indicates to me that she was drugged and abducted.

She was taken by surprise and it feels as if there was no-one else around at that time. Was this early morning?

I have to be very careful not to let my mind or fantasy interfere, but I feel that she was put in a old car that drove off. One man, alone, older man, between the age of 35 and 45, maybe somewhat older. Caucasian, normal stature, not that tall...

He feels anxious, there is also frustration and anger. I would not be surprised if he lost a daughter himself... in the same age...

I have a picture of a remote, open dry-ish area. I can see a huge open huge open space with gray-ish rocks and dry grass. Small (low) mountains in the distance. There is a small shed or cabin. I can only see one wall, it is grey and it looks like concrete. There is a rough wooden roof on top and there is clutter lying around and against that wall... I can't see inside, but I know it's dark, there are no windows.

Somehow I don't feel that she was sexually abused... There is anger and panic... it feels as if this is some sort of revenge...

I don't know if I should tell you this, but I think I need to. As she was half unconscious, I can feel that she passed due to strangulation. She didn't notice, there was no pain or panic as she was drugged with some sort of chemical. It must have been something very strong and fast working.

Then I can see the man leave and return later. I believe he then took her body and this is were I was made aware of something that happened to a Dutch / Indonesian girl in - I believe Thailand - a couple of years ago. She was visiting a couple their appartement and was found dead on the street some time later. Police said she killed herself or fell over the balcony railing. But the autopsy showed that she was drugged at the time. For the Thai Police the case is closed, but this too is still an ongoing investigation. I'm telling you this because she, 'Bung', gave me the feeling of falling. So I believe that once she had passed, she was thrown down from a height. This may have been a bridge or a ridge.

As I tuned in earlier one of the first things she made me aware of but I couldn't mention because I didn't know yet if I was on the right track, was that she said: 'They are never going to find me'. And that's okay. It doesn't matter'. And this is what often happens when people are in spirit, their death is no longer an issue for them, most will mention briefly the way they passed, but - unless it's of great importance - skip to what is really important for them to convey.

And I feel that she is concerned about her parents. Was there also a sibling? A sister? I'm not sure but it feel like both of her parents have been going through a really tough time, understandably.

Are there health issues with father?

This is all so sad... And because not much is known, this too - my information - is nothing more than a feeling until she is found or someone confesses. And that's the frustrating part of psychic detection. It is never certain until more facts are known.

Was there anything in specific that you want to know?

Stacey:
Yes - she has an older sister also. Her mother and father have struggled a lot with her disappearance.. no information or closure for them at all. Health issues, quite possible, but i'd have to check in and ask. Specific information, would be approx. locations or names of location of where you feel was her final place. Or how far out you feel she was taken..

Pat:
Terrible... Does the city of Melbourne have a connection to this family? I know that the car she was taken away in was white-ish, old, gritty. Not a brand new car. I'm very much in doubt if this a van or a sort of pick-up... If you have an exact location or the name of a street, that will give me something to go on.

Would you understand if racism was a motive?

Stacey:
Yes, they lived in Boronia, Melbourne. She was last seen in Elsie street, Boronia, as she was walking to school when she went missing.

Yes, very much a high possibility... (Pat: racism)

Pat:
Okay, thank you Stacey... I will try to see where my attention is being drawn to on the map and maybe I can pinpoint something or give a direction. But like she said: 'they are not going to find me', so this is all just my feeling. I'm sorry, I wish I could say 'this is where she is' but unfortunately that is not how this works for me.

I see that it's the middle of the night for you. In the Netherlands it's dinner time. I will sit for 'Bung' tonight and I will get back to you later. You can answer me whenever you are up to it.

Take care,
Pat

Stacey:
You have been a huge help Pat, thanks a lot will wait to hear back from you. You too take care.

Pat:
Hi Stacey,

I can't really pinpoint a certain location, but there are some areas that are interesting because they more or less gave me the impression I had from the picture in my mind.

I know that she was taken in a car, this morning it felt quite strongly as an old white or light colored Van. It appears to be in a somewhat sorry state with rust and dents. I also feel that there was duct tape on one of the exterior mirrors.

I also feel strongly about that small structure where she was brought and it feels as if he left her there after his heinous act only to return in the evening when it was dark. I'm not sure if this was on the same day, I somehow feel that there was one or maybe two days in between.

Although my first impression was that it was a three hour drive to the cabin / structure, I can't find any area that gives me something of recognition. So I started looking to areas closer to Boronia and I found some quarries that are interesting. They are within a one a and a half hour drive, which makes three hours there and back...

There is a quarry close to Batesford (1 hour 45 min.), there is Bacchus Marsh (1 hour 15 min.) and there are the two quarries close to Trig Point Lookout (30 min.).

The quarry close to Batesford is the most interesting, because there are several small structures spread across the terrain, there is a high ridge with a dry riverbed below. I know that the riverbed I saw isn't dry throughout the entire year, but it was dry in the period that Bung disappeared.

I very much doubt if there is anything that can be found there, but I had to think of her shoes. Would you know if these were black or dark shoes with a metal clasp / buckle on top? If there is anything that might give a clue about where she can be found, I feel that this clasp could be the start...

As for the perpetrator, I feel that he is still alive. I also believe that Bung wasn't his only victim. He must have been on the Police's radar, but somehow it feels as if there was no follow up. To me he appears as unobtrusive, the helpful neighbor, someone that you just can't imagine being capable of committing a crime. The house I am being pulled to is a bungalow-ish house, with a garage attached. In my notes I wrote down Willow or Willowby, but I didn't mention a connection. It may be the name of a road or area? I also wrote down 'Ken'.. again without mentioning a connection to why or what...

That's all I have for now. Sometimes in the following day's some more information pops up, but for now...

I'm so so sorry that I can't be more helpful...

Take care Tracey, I really hope that you and Siriyakorn's loved ones will get the closure that is needed.

Stacey:
Thanks heaps Pat, for the information. It's a big help definitely!

i'm not sure on the shoes she was wearing, but very likely as she was in school uniform on that day.
Do you know if the names given, are spelt that way? Or you have written only as they sound?

I really do hope this will help her family somehow, even if we are unable to find anything from it, it's always worth it to keep trying.

Stacey:
Hello Pat, I hope you're well

I just wanted to ask you a question about our last conversation in regards to Bungs disappearance..

Did you by any chance pickup on any water or rivers etc. around the place you were seeing on where she was? Or if this man was local or lived close by?

Pat:
Hi Stacey,
thank you for your message. Everything okay here. I hope you're doing fine as well.

As I wrote in my first impressions:

'there are several small structures spread across the terrain, there is a high ridge with a dry riverbed below. I know that the riverbed I saw isn't dry throughout the entire year, but it was dry in the period that Bung disappeared.'

So yes, there should be a small river with a riverbed nearby.

Tuning on this man again, could he be a worker that is only there for a certain season? I know he knows the area, so he must be visiting / working in or around there during... I don't know... 5, 6 months of the year. I have the feeling of a construction worker or someone who is used to operating heavy machinery...

Kenneth... Ken...? Don't know. There is dust around him, he is dusty, grimy... which could indicate that his work has / had to do with maybe working in a quarry or something similar...
I have the feeling of coughing... he could be having breathing issues...

lungs... it feels like asthma, but this is due to his work. It's not Black lungs (a miners disease), but comparable.

Somehow I see him dressed in white clothing. Not bright white, but grimy white... could be from te dust...

Yes, he feels like he is used to operating heavy machinery... There is also a sense of having difficulties with feeling or processing emotions...

I really do hope that Bung will be found someday, just to give the family closure. And I also hope that the perpetrator is found in time because I do feel that there isn't much time left anymore.

Take care Stacey...

Pat

Stacey:
Thanks heaps Pat.. I really hope so too.. it feels so close, yet so far away from closure... Assuming this information is completely spot on, it would be a matter of finding the correct quarry, who employs a man named Ken.. I've been looking into this case for the last 3 - 4 years, properly... It felt the police had just stopped bothering and I felt so disheartened by it... There had been a fair few mediums/psychics who had given their reading on this, some things varied but I have always put it all together and kept it all to consider all points given, together, as I know some things can be correct and some things may be slightly off in some sense, or others might pickup something which the other person could not..

I think an area name, or which direction the perpetrator was headed, was about the only part which we couldn't get..

These are the times i really wish i had your gift... so many cases I would be helping authorities with... At the same time, i also know it's draining and consumes so much time and energy as well.

Zie map: locatie 2

There are so many...

Pat:
Hi Stacey,

psychic detection is one of the most frustrating facets of mediumship. It is often very difficult to convince the police of ones findings or to get involved in a case. Another difficulty is that there often is no direct connection between victim and medium like between you and Bung.

For psychic detection to work at its best, the medium should know all the known details. As much information as possible to be able to fill in the gaps. With this case it is more of a shot in the dark, there are too many unknowns, which makes it difficult to really feel what happened and where to search. Physically being there would help, having one of the parents or someone close to her present would help, having the available information would help.

I would start by looking at quarry's that were active 15 years ago and are also within a 2, max. 3 hour drive from Boronia (like Batesford is).

Ken or Kenneth is a 'translation' of the energy of a name. It doesn't have to be that name literally, maybe the same sound or vibe as Ken or Kenneth. But that would also be one of the things to look into.
Was there a worker at that time who worked during a certain season, who maybe lived in or near Boronia?

Would you know of a man of indigenous descend who was questioned by the Police? Normal to short build man, regular stature, (now grey-ish / white) curly hair... I see him dressed in white and I'm not sure if that is dust or white clothing. He would have been driving an old white or light colored pick up truck at the time. I am trying to look at his features and things that stand out, but at this moment I can't really see him clearly. I could start drawing, but I'm afraid that it would just be a portrait of someone with indigenous features, nothing special or with something that would separate him from other indigenous people... He worked odd jobs, nothing really steady. He must also be known in pubs... Not the fancy ones but more like working class pubs, maybe not in the best neighborhoods... I am quite certain that he has been in contact with the Police more than once...

I wish I could help you more...

Take care,

Pat

Stacey:
Thanks Pat.. a few things to look into here so will keep us busy.
When you say indigenous, that means, he is not caucasian right?

Pat:
There are some similarities between the known information and my findings. What struck me most is that she is definitely the girl I 'saw' when connecting to her name...

I will try to sit for Bung later today and see what happens now that I have more information that is known, although I am pretty confident in the information that I already gave.

We'll see.

This is the link to the documentary:
https://youtu.be/OSfBgXPtPXg?si=tqq1QLhQeUvntakI

Pat

Stacey:
Thanks a lot for your help Pat.

Yes there are a lot of similarities in the case and the information you have. I had initially given you no information, as you requested.. so I am pretty confident in what you seen..

I look forward to hearing the feedback and i'll take a look at the youtube video, although i may have already seen it.

Thanks again.

Pat:
Hi Stacey,

Sorry for the wait, it's very busy with us launching Spiriousity and everything involved with that launch.

So there are some similarities between the information I gave and the information from the group.
I will try to sum it up as clear as possible:

Similar information:
- White car or Van / Pick Up
- She was intoxicated / feels nauseous / dizzy
- Buried in a shallow grave or a ditch
- Neighbor or someone who lives in the same area / vicinity of her house
- Some also mention a man with Native (Aboriginal) features
- Strangulation or suffocation
- Small house or cabin surrounded by nature (desert / open) where she is hidden
- There is nothing left of her to be found
- Buried near water or a stream

Additional / new information:
- Friendly man with a (mid size) dog / small dog
- Alcoholic
- Blue car
- Red and white car
- Ford Taunus
- Cadillac
- Man with foreign features
- Kidnapped and sold for prostitution
- Perth
- Sydney
- She is still alive, lives somewhere in the wilderness
- Drug-related
- She is not far from her residence

The problem with working with different groups (and inexperienced students on this matter) is that the energy goes everywhere. I have tried to find some sort of common ground.

I really hope that this gives you at least some new input or maybe some resemblance with the already existing information that you or the Police may have.

Take care,

Pat

Stacey:
Hi Pat, how are you?

So I just wanted to message and mention something I came across on Bung Siriboons case. I had watched a video where someone was using a spirit box to communicate with her. When he asked where she is now, she had replied “house... creek”

That’s interesting, because, there is a creek in Victoria, which is approx. 3.3 hours away from her last known location in Boronia. Also along that creek stream, there is a “willow park” and I was looking over what you had picked up when you looked into it. I know you had said a quarry area, but if she had said where she was, that was also the approximate distance of where you said she had been taken, aswel as “willow” that was coming to you. I’ll send you a screenshot of the area and see if anything there stands out to you at all. > Zie map: locatie 3

Pat: vertelt over deze les en vraagt toestemming om het verhaal van Bung nogmaals te delen

Stacey:
Hi Pat, I am well, thank you! How are you doing?

Yes that’s absolutely fine to bring bung into up during your lessons. It would be the perfect thing to compare notes and insight. We havnt had any new information that is substantial. Mostly very similar to what we already have. It’s a very large puzzle that is yet to be completed!

Looking forward to hearing how it all goes and what is picked up!
